

OVERVIEW

With over twenty years agency and client side experience I have gained a broad range of skills to deliver creative digital products. I have a strong grounding in UX, research and conceptual thinking and have the ability to deliver concepts that embrace user needs.

I also have experience in building, managing and mentoring UX and Research teams allowing me to get the best out of people and to be able to deliver efficiently and effectively while maintaining high standards. I believe that the user experience isn't about just an interface, it is about joining up all areas of the experience to deliver one cohesive and enjoyable journey.
